

JOSEPH BUFFINGTON (1873); presumably “opened,” Sunday, July 13, 1873

Second Presbyterian Church (Rev. Mr. Baker, Pastor)
Camden, New Jersey

“Interesting Exercises,” The Camden (N.J.) Democrat 27, no. 29 (Saturday, July 19, 1873): 3.

INTERESTING EXERCISES.—On Sunday last, the new organ for the Second Presbyterian Church, Rev. Mr. Baker, pastor, was opened. It is of the Buffington build, and has thirteen stops, which number will be increased in a short time. Prof. Jos. Young, of Beverly, will take charge of the new instrument the first Sunday in August. Prof. Hudnut, and other gentlemen, will officiate until then. The sermon on this occasion is highly spoken of, and conceded to be both eloquent and appropriate. The free seat feature of this church has succeeded well, and it is prospering in a manner that reflects credit upon the zeal, energy and piety of the pastor.