The organ was originally built by Möller in 1929 as their Opus 5668 with 3-manuals and 26-ranks. In 1960, Möller rebuilt the existing organ as their Opus R-649. Several original ranks were removed for new additions. Other existing ranks were revoiced to serve as 'new' stops. The console was new.

The Great 8' Concert Flute was originally called Melodia. The Swell 8' Salicional is the former, original 8' Aeoline revoiced. The Pedal 16' Diapason is original for notes 1-12, but notes 13-44 are the original Swell 8' Open Diapason pipes. Stops marked with an asterisk (*) in the preceding stoplist represent 1960 additions.

The Swell 8' Vox Humana was subsequently replaced with a II Sesquialtera, and the Vox Humana Tremolo became a blank drawknob.
