

Church Has Two Priceless Treasures, Mural and Organ

The South Dennis Congregational Church has two priceless treasures—the Blashfield mural, shown above at the left of the pulpit, and the John Snetzler organ, the oldest working pipe organ in America, shown at the right. Sunday the church will dedicate a cross and altar pieces given by Mrs. Edwin Howland Blashfield in memory of her husband, and a Blashfield room containing 76 carefully selected photographs of the artist's work. Dr. Donald B. Aldrich, rector of the Church of the Assension of New York City, will give the sermon at the 10:30 a. m. services, and Dr. Carl McKinley, organist of the Old South Church in Boston, widely celebrated for his compositions and playing, will give a 4 p. m. recital, assisted by Mrs. McKinley, soprano.

[Clipping 14 – photo of the interior of the South Dennis Congregational Church, from the Cape Cod Standard Times, Wednesday, 21 July 1937:]

The South Dennis Congregational Church has two priceless treasures – the Blashfield mural, shown above at the left of the pulpit, and the John Snetzler organ, the oldest working pipe organ in America, shown at the right. Sunday the church will dedicate a cross and altar pieces given by Mrs. Edwin Howland Blashfield in memory of her husband, and a Blashfield room containing 76 carefully selected photographs of the artist's work. Dr. Donald B. Alrich, rector of the Church of the Assension of New York City, will give the sermon at the 10:30 a.m. services, and Dr. Carl McKinley, organist of the Old South Church in Boston, widely celebrated for his compositions and playing, will give a 4 p.m. recital, assisted by Mrs. McKinley, soprano.